CUBAN INSURGENTS ARE INCREASING. General Lee's Private Opinion of the Situation. Cleveland's Forest Reservations--An Interesting Debate on the Appropriation of $50,000 to Improve Pearl Harbor--House Considers in the Amendment Giving President Additional Powers.

CONDITION OF THE ISLAND'S AFFAIRS. The debate in the senate on the Morgan Cuban resolution today a strong plea was made for its reference to the committee on foreign relations on the ground that the state department is in possession of recent official information of the Cuban question which it is considered should be consulted before action is taken by the senate. This particular information to which reference was made consists in the main, a report by General Lee, of the latter part of April, in which he deals with the general situation and presents all the facts at his command without making any recommendations as to the policy to be pursued by this country. In this report General Lee states that insurgent forces are not decreasing in numbers but that according to the most trustworthy information at hand and to all appearances, there are more of them now than when he was sent to the island. He explains the apparent want of organization by the statement that it is against the Cuban policy to conduct the war after the accepted modern idea on this point. The Cubans believe they can be most effectively pursued through their present method. General Lee also dwells upon the condition of affairs in the island.

CONDITION OF THE ISLAND'S AFFAIRS. The debate in the senate on the Morgan Cuban resolution today a strong plea was made for its reference to the committee on foreign relations on the ground that the state department is in possession of recent official information of the Cuban question which it is considered should be consulted before action is taken by the senate. This particular information to which reference was made consists in the main, a report by General Lee, of the latter part of April, in which he deals with the general situation and presents all the facts at his command without making any recommendations as to the policy to be pursued by this country. In this report General Lee states that insurgent forces are not decreasing in numbers but that according to the most trustworthy information at hand and to all appearances, there are more of them now than when he was sent to the island. He explains the apparent want of organization by the statement that it is against the Cuban policy to conduct the war after the accepted modern idea on this point. The Cubans believe they can be most effectively pursued through their present method. General Lee also dwells upon the condition of affairs in the island.
